

Elizabeth Smith, JD

Elizabeth is a former legal editor and litigator who has spent the last 2 decades in-house building privacy compliance programs from scratch. Having frequently served as the first dedicated privacy professional within large multinational companies in entertainment, consumer products, and biotechnology, she focuses on creative problem solving to enable business objectives and sustain compliance with an ever-expanding body of legal and regulatory requirements.