

Natasha Trifun

Natasha Trifun is currently the Head of Compliance for R&D, Global Medical and Global Functions at Alexion AstraZeneca Rare Disease based in Boston. Prior to this role, Natasha was the International Compliance lead at Alexion covering LATAM, UK, Ireland, Spain/Portugal, Canada and the distributor business. Natasha has extensive experience building and implementing compliance programs for multinational companies, having worked in-house and as external counsel. Natasha was previously based in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where she served as the Compliance Officer for Pfizer Brazil, in charge of integrating a large acquisition. Natasha also served as the Head of Latin America Compliance for Honeywell, where she implemented a compliance and investigations program covering all of Honeywell's diverse business interests in the region. Natasha also had a varied white collar and litigation practice, counseling clients in criminal and civil defense matters before the DOJ, SEC and EPA. Additionally, Natasha loves studying languages and is fluent in Spanish and Portuguese.