

Katy Van Pelt, JD

Katy Van Pelt is the Vice President and Head of Ethics and Compliance at Arcus Biosciences, a clinical-stage, global biopharmaceutical company based in the San Francisco Bay area that is developing differentiated molecules and combination medicines for people with cancer. Katy has been at Arcus for two years and serves as the global Data Protection Officer for the company. Prior to joining Arcus, Katy held legal roles at large and small biotech and pharma companies and at law firms in DC and Chicago. Katy has four children and lives in the mountains of Park City.